

Lanaudière Reading and Writing Center is a not-for-profit volunteer community organization dedicated to improving basic English grammar, reading, writing, maths and other life skills.

Our trained volunteers offer «each one teach one» tutoring method.

Confidential, day or evening.

Spread the word

Why should you improve reading and writing?

- You have difficulty in understanding what you read.
- You make spelling errors.
- It is difficult for you to help your children with their homeworks.
- It is hard for you to read a story to your grand-children.

Learn to read and write better is the only solution in today's fast-paced world.

The results of your efforts are worth it because you gain more independence, a better quality of life, increased self-esteem and confidence.

Statistics

- 22% of adult Canadians have serious problems dealing with printed materials.

- 24-26% of Canadians can only deal with simple reading tasks.
- Canadians literacy skills vary from region to region.
- Literacy skills are like muscles--the more you use them the stronger they become.

In order to maintain literacy skills, one must use them regularly.

Source: a portrait of Literacy in Canada, 1996.

Volunteer tutors needed

We will train you to teach others. Laubach Literacy of Canada offers workshops which train tutors how to use the «Laubach Way to Reading» series to teach reading and writing to both non-readers and those functioning at low reading levels and want to update their existing skills.

Supplementary training is available (3 workshops of high quality training). All the workshops are given by volunteers who are certified Laubach Trainers.

Helping people learn to learn

There are people in your community willing to help. You'll soon discover that you're not alone.

Source: ABC Canada Learn campaign

